Where We Are
The Rise of the Popular Press
"The First Information Revolution"

Growth of common schools:

1800-1825: proportion of children in schools from 37 to 60%

Increased literacy -- a “nation of readers”

Cf Thos. Paine's Common Sense

Creation of the modern postal service

Urbanization

Democratization of commerce and politics
The first information revolution

technological advances:
  steam press,
  paper-making machines
  stereotypes (Firmin Didot)
  rotary press:
    invented by Richard Hoe, 1844; capable of 20k impressions/hr

Foudrinier Machine, 1811
Further technological Advances:
   Railroad, telegraph (from 1840's)
   ... not to mention shorthand
"The First Information Revolution"

Rise of penny newspapers, circulating libraries, "dime novels," etc.

"the tawdry novels which flare in the bookshelves of our railway stations, and which seem designed... for people with low standards of life." Matthew Arnold, 1880
Rise of the Penny Newspaper

Penny newspapers:
- less dependent on patronage, used professional reporters,
- "developed" stories, pioneered the interview

Frederick Douglass

Wm. Lloyd Garrison
The press elsewhere

Parisian daily press goes from 50k copies in 1830 to 1.5m in 1880.

London Daily Telegraph launched in 1856. Circulation is 140k in 1860, 300k in 1890

Who has not heard of Mount Olympus — that high abode of all the powers of type, that favoured seat of the great goddess Pica, that wondrous habitation of gods and devils, from whence, with ceaseless hum of steam and never-ending flow of Castalian ink, issue forth fifty thousand nightly edicts for the governance of a subject nation? Anthony Trollope on "The Jupiter" (London Times) in The Warden
“To my readers, an attic fire in the Latin Quarter is more important than a revolution in Madrid.

"One Englishman is a story. Ten Frenchmen is a story. One hundred Germans is a story. And nothing ever happens in Chile." Posting in a London newsroom.
Defining “the News”: Range of Content

Stories about developments in politics, world affairs, business, sports, natural disasters, accidents, crime, arts, science…

AND...

Reviews, weather, columns, announcements,

A "natural hierarchy" of importance?
Prioritizing "the News"

But cf other features that make stories "newsworthy":

- plane crashes > winter furnace breakdowns
- crimes of rich criminals > incomes of poor criminals
- breakthroughs in science > breakthroughs in auto repair
- business news > labor news

(from Herbert Gans, Deciding What's News)

The Birth of "Muckraking"

The connection to political Progressivism.

In Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" you may recall the description of the Man with the Muck-rake, the man who could look no way but downward, with the muck-rake in his hand...

Now, it is very necessary that we should not flinch from seeing what is vile and debasing. … But the man who never does anything else, who never thinks or speaks or writes, save of his feats with the muck-rake, speedily becomes, not a help to society... but one of the most potent forces for evil. Stresses “decency,” reform, "respectability,"
“information” journalism

Circulation goes from 9000 to 350,000 in 1920
19th c. forces leading to rise of “objectivity”

Weakening of partisanship.

1860 -- Gov’t Printing Office established
Reform movement, civil services, beginnings of progressivism

Enlarged markets for mass-circulation press/ increasing dependence on advertising

Professionalization of journalism -- creation of journalism courses & schools
Growth of wire services

Its [The AP’s] members [i.e. subscribers] are scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to the Gulf, and represent every possible shade of political belief, religious faith, and economic sympathy. It is obvious that the Associated Press can have no partisan nor factional bias, no religious affiliation, no capitalistic nor pro-labor trend. Its function is simply to furnish its members with a truthful, clean, comprehensive, non-partisan...report of the news in the world as expeditiously as is compatible with accuracy...

Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, 1913
Objectivity as a Conscious Norm
The Components of Objectivity

Detachment:

Objective reporting is supposed to be cool, rather than emotional, in tone.

privileges "information" over "story"

My business is merely to communicate facts. My instructions do not allow me to make any comments on the facts I communicate. ... My despatches are merely dry matters of facts and detail. AP Washington bureau chief, 1866 privileges "information" over "story"

"Balance"

Objective reporting takes pains to represent fairly each leading side in a political controversy.

According to the objectivity norm, the journalist’s job consists of reporting something called ‘news’ without commenting on it, slanting it, or shaping its formulation in any way."
Features of Objectivity

The inverted pyramid

This evening at about 9:30 p.m. at Ford's Theatre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President.

The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape in the rear of the theatre.

The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal.

The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted, and is now dying.

About the same hour an assassin, whether the same or not, entered Mr. Seward's apartment and under pretense of having a prescription was shown to the Secretary's sick chamber...

Balance etc. presume a common perspective
Cf. Hallin on “spheres” of public discourse

Shifting status: slavery, votes for women, gay marriage
The price of "impartiality"

“It is a peculiar fact that the crime for which Negroes have frequently been lynched, and occasionally been put to death with frightful tortures, is a crime to which negroes are particularly prone.” NY Times editorial, 1894, decrying mob violence

“Nobody in this section of the country believes the old threadbare lie that Negro men rape white women.”

Ida B. Wells
The Rise of “Propaganda”

Propaganda (OED) (More fully, Congregation or College of the Propaganda.) A committee of Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church having the care and oversight of foreign missions, founded in 1622 by Pope Gregory XV.

"Before 1914, 'propaganda' belonged only to literate vocabularies and possessed a reputable, dignified meaning... Two years later the word had come into the vocabulary of peasants and ditchdiggers and had begun to acquire its miasmic aura." Will Irwin, Propaganda and the News

1922: Encyclopedia Britannica first includes propaganda as entry
States begin to take a direct role in creating & diffusing pro-government views.
The Rise of “Propaganda”
The rise of propaganda: 1914-1917

WWI: Creel Committee, “4-minute men,” etc.
75,000 speakers to give short speeches & lantern-slide presentations
75 million booklets distributed, in multiple languages

“We did not call it propaganda, for that word, in German hands, had come to be associated with deceit and corruption. Our effort was educational and informative throughout. No other argument was needed than the simple, straightforward presentation of facts.” George Creel
Rise of publicists, press services.

The conscious and intelligent manipulation of the organized habits and opinions of the masses is an important element in democratic society. Those who manipulate this unseen mechanism of society constitute an invisible government which is the true ruling power of our country. ...We are governed, our minds are molded, our tastes formed, our ideas suggested, largely by men we have never heard of.

Edward Bernays, 1928

Increasing suspicion of propaganda:

1939 poll shows 40 percent of Americans blame propaganda for the US entry into the First World War.

The rise of “interpretive journalism”

Birth of Time magazine, 1926; offers “intelligent criticism, representation, and evaluation of the men who hold offices of public trust.” Henry Luce

“Show me a man who thinks he’s objective, and I’ll show you a man who’s deceiving himself.” Henry Luce

“a language in which nobody could tell the truth” -- Marshall McLuhan on Time-style
Acknowledgement of public’s difficulty in digesting & interpreting “raw facts”

Cf Walter Lippmann, Liberty and the News, 1920:

Men who have lost their grip upon the relevant facts of their environment are the inevitable victims of agitation and propaganda. The quack, the charlatan, the jingo, and the terrorist can flourish only where the audience is deprived of independent access to information. But where all news comes at second-hand, where all the testimony is uncertain, men cease to respond to truths…
Cf Harold Ickes on press bias in early 1940's:

"The American press is not free.... because of its own financial and economic tie-ups [instead of] what it should be, a free servant of a free democracy."

Cites absence of newspaper reports on dept store elevator accidents, Gannett's opposition to public ownership of utilities, etc.
"I am distressed to note that Governor Adlai Stevenson has participated since the election in a subtle but nevertheless persistent misrepresentation of the fairness and truthfulness of the American newspapers in reporting public events. .. The new Marxian line of propaganda no longer is centering on Wall Streeters but the American press… [undermining] public confidence in the newspapers." Alf Landon, Jan 8, 1953
The Shifting Meaning of "Bias"

1969 WSJ discounts Agnew's charge of media conspiracy to discredit Nixon administration; cites "unconscious slant" introduced by the "prevailing liberal tendencies of the national media."

Cf Albert H. Hastorf and Hadley Cantrill on 1951 Princeton/Dartmouth game: "They Saw a Game," 1954; selective perception

Changing meanings of "bias," "prejudice," etc. (not in OED)
Members of the media argued that while personally liberal, they are professionally neutral. They argued their opinions do not matter because as professional journalists, they report what they observe without letting their opinions affect their judgment. But being a journalist is not like being a surveillance camera at an ATM, faithfully recording every scene for future playback. Journalists make subjective decisions every minute of their professional lives. They choose what to cover and what not to cover, which sources are credible and which are not, which quotes to use in a story and which to toss out.

Brent Bozell, Media Research Center

Attacks gather strength in 1990’s
Rise in mentions of "liberal media bias"; outnumber mentions of "conservative media bias" by more than 20 to 1 (proportion rises to 30 to 1 by 2006).

“Bias” taken as matter of undisputed fact:
WSJ, 2002: media bias is "one of the facts of life so long obvious they would seem to be beyond dispute."

Cf Also Bernard Goldberg, in Bias: "The old argument that the networks and other 'media elites' have a liberal bias is so blatantly true that it's hardly worth discussing anymore"

Cf Fox slogan “Fair and Balanced” -- implications of advertising this claim; where is "objectivity"?
"I think we're coming to the end of the era of "objectivity" that has dominated journalism over this time. We need to define a new ethic that lends legitimacy to opinion, honestly disclosed and disciplined by some sense of propriety." Robert Bartley, WSJ

“Anyone listening to Rush Limbaugh knows that what he is saying is his own opinion. But people who listen to the news on ABC, CBS, or NBC may imagine that they are getting the facts, not just those facts which fit the ideology of the media, with the media's spin.” Thomas Sowell.

NB: "Biased" now more likely to be applied to "objective" news sources (e.g., CNN, NY Times) than to openly opinionated source (e.g., Rush Limbaugh, Michael Moore)
2002 (or so) -- political blogs become a major force in political discourse

Unlike columnists, bloggers are (usually) detached from affiliations with newspapers or news institutions. Rather, exist in network of links…

Most (political) blogs are explicitly partisan.

Blogs function to mediate between “news sources” and “public opinion” -- perform interpretive function (despite occasional scoops)

Cf Blog “voice”: the new syntax of public(?) discourse.
Ruptured Discourses

Figure 1: Community structure of political blogs (expanded set), shown using utilizing a GEM layout [34] in the GUESS[3] visualization and analysis tool. The colors reflect political orientation, red for conservative, and blue for liberal. Orange links go from liberal to conservative, and purple ones from conservative to liberal. The size of each blog reflects the number of other blogs that link to it.
