Der Chor

Es war eine ganz spontane Idee, die 1987 einem Klassenfest entsprang und zur Gründung des Bad Honnefer Damenchor führte. Ingrid Gothe-Floresbach, die von Beruf Chorleiterin war und damals 2 Jugendliche leitete, fand unter ihren ehemaligen Mitschülerinnen einige, die Freude am Singen hatten. Andere kamen über eine kleine Anzeige in der Hunsrück-Anzeigerzeitung hinzu. Ihre Anwesenheit hielt sich nicht eine Woche lang. Der erste Auftritt erfolgte bei einem Chorfest in Argersberg - noch etwas zögerlich mit einigen Ladies, die aber sehr gut beim Publikum ankommen. Das machte uns Mut, erzählt Karin, die heutige Chorvorsitzende. [...]

Chorleiterin

Ina Bocklin wurde 1965 in Moskau geboren. Im Alter von 5 Jahren begann ihre musikalische Ausbildung. Nach dem Moskauer Konservatorium besuchte sie von 1981-1985 die Musikfachschule des Moskauer Konservatoriums (Abteilung für Chorleitung, Chorleitendiplom). Während ihrer Studienzeit sammelte sie vielfältige Erfahrungen als Chorsängerin in verschiedenen Chören in Moskau. [...]

PLAN TO CHANGE STUDENT LENDING SETS UP A FIGHT

OBAMA SEEKS SALES

Some Lawmakers Join Banks in Pressing for Subsidy Program

REVENUE FROM RECONSTRUCTION

WASHINGTON — The private student loan market is set to open in Congress an increasingly contentious fight to change a law that allows the federal government to subsidize the interest on student loans.

The plan in the new reauthorizing legislation of the 2008-2009 federal budget bill says the government should subsidize the interest on student loans made by private banks with federal money. Some lawmakers, however, are pushing for a program that would allow the federal government to subsidize the interest on student loans made by private banks.

Navy Rescues Captain, Killing 3 Pirate Captors

Concern That His Life Was in Danger Prompted American Snipers to Fire

BY ROBERT D. McFARLANE AND JEFFREY M. PERKINS

NEW YORK — A Navy commando team rescued a captain who had been held captive for 17 months in a fishing boat off the coast of Somalia. The rescue was a dramatic one, involving a high-speed chase and the use of precision snipers. The captain, Richard Phillips, was rescued by the USS Bowditch, a Navy helicopter carrier. The screenshot shows a browser window titled "The W3C Markup Validation Service" with the URL "http://validator.w3.org/". The page features a blue header with the W3C logo and the text "Markup Validation Service" and "Check the markup (HTML, XHTML, ...) of Web documents". Below the header, there are three tabs: "Validate by URI" (selected), "Validate by File Upload", and "Validate by Direct Input". Under the "Validate by URI" tab, there is a section titled "Validate by URI" with the instruction "Validate a document online:". Below this is a text input field labeled "Address:" and a "Check" button. A link for "More Options" is also present. A paragraph of text explains that the validator checks the markup validity of Web documents in HTML, XHTML, SMIL, MathML, etc., and provides links for "RSS/Atom feeds", "CSS stylesheets", "MobileOK content", and "find broken links". At the bottom, there is a "I ♥ VALIDATOR" logo and a message: "The W3C validators rely on community support for hosting and development. Donate and help us build better tools for a better web." A navigation menu includes "Home", "About...", "News", "Docs", "Help & FAQ", "Feedback", and "Contribute". The footer contains the W3C logo, the text "This service runs the W3C Markup Validator, v0.8.5.", and a copyright notice: "COPYRIGHT © 1994-2009 W3C® (MIT, ERCIM, NICTD), ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying Daniela Karin Rosner's homepage. The browser's address bar shows the URL `http://people.ischool.berkeley.edu/~daniela/`. The page content includes a navigation menu with links for HOME, research, and design. The main content area features an "About me" section with the text "Craft & Computing in Everyday Life" and a paragraph about her research interests. A "RECENT NEWS" section lists two articles: "DIY for CHI workshop at the CHI conference in Boston, April 5, 2009" and "CHI note Learning from IKEA".

The Firebug developer tool is open at the bottom of the browser window. The "Inspect" tab is active, showing the HTML structure of the page. The selected element is the `body` tag, which is highlighted in blue. The "Style" pane on the right shows the default browser styles for the `body` element, including `background: white none repeat scroll 0 0;`, `color: #000000;`, and `font-family: Helvetica,Arial,Verdana,Sans-Serif;`.

Assignment 7: Web Design

In this assignment you will explore the design of a website by creating a new (a) homepage and (b) sub-page for one of the following:

- (1) your school's website
- (2) your personal website
- (3) your personal project

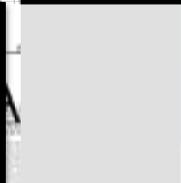

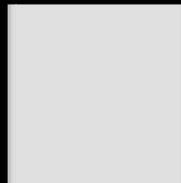

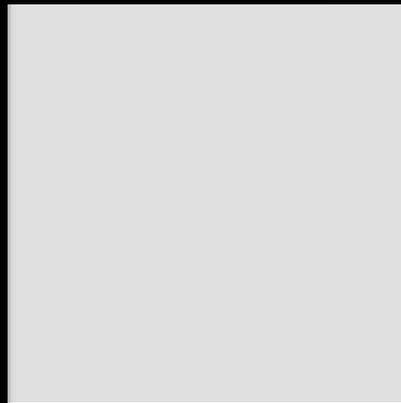

We encourage you to create a site map and wireframes for each page before beginning your graphical design. The pages can be designed as html documents or as static images.

Please consider:

- your desired audience
- the persistence of your navigation
- visual hierarchy
- highlighting the most important or useful information
- visual consistency within and across pages (color, layout, type)
- minimizing visual redundancy (if you do not need it, remove it)

Post your design and description of your design on the web by Sunday, April 19th.

Place Name Here Interface Aesthetics 2009

To make my image, I looked at all the font faces and tried to find one where the letters would easily merge together, without losing too much of their individual character. I could have used the sanserif faces, but they seemed painfully businesslike. The DWT logo above, for example, looks downright industrial to me. After looking at many of the faces, I ended up using the Bodoni italics set, since the serifs in the set were almost identical from one letter to the next.

I'm fairly happy with the final product, though my initials are MJL, not JML, so that's a little confusing. I also find that the J and the L overpower the M somewhat, leaving it sort of the loser of the logo, whereas it should be the winner, since it's my first name's initial.

Preparation for Assignment 7

Choose one of the following websites to use for your Assignments 7 exercise:

- (1) your school's website
- (2) your personal website
- (3) your personal project

Begin by creating a site map for your website. Use your site map to create wireframes for the website's homepage and one sub-page

Please consider:

- your desired audience
- the persistence of your navigation
- visual hierarchy
- highlighting the most important or useful information
